History of NA in NJ

The Adventures of Nicky Newcomer

I wonder why Nicky is so late. He told me he was working half-day today and it is now dinner time. He forgot his cell phone this morning and now he is among the missing.

I can't wait to tell Cookie about this. What a great idea. It is going to take a long time and we will have to talk to a lot of people, but it will all be worth it for the generations who follow us.

I can't believe that I left my cell phone home and now I am stuck in traffic. Cookie is probably so worried about me. At least Step Six has helped me remove my traffic anger.

Cookie, I'm so sorry I did not call you. I could have used someone else's phone, but we got so involved in conversation that it slipped my mind. I told you I was working half-day and here it is 6 PM. Please forgive me.

S'okay Nicky.

Sparky stopped by work this morning and asked me to join him at a new committee this afternoon. The New Jersey Statewide History and Archive Committee is starting to write the History of NA in NJ. They are looking for people with information on what NA was like in the early years in New Jersey. They want to interview the people who were around 25 years ago or longer.

There is going to be a History & Archive suite at the NJRCNA XXVIII convention in East Brunswick on April 19, 20, 21. There will be a speaker on Friday night and another speaker on Saturday night. They are also seeking people to set up interviews with. People who can share their experience from NA from years ago are being sought.
